Tasks Completed		Tasks Delayed		Tasks Planned
This week we have officially created a repository to our code and given all our team members access to it. As well as created mock ups of our designs and established roles for our team members.		We are mostly on track the only thing that has been delayed is development of the server node and that is due to the STEM fair which is acceptable.		Most future tasks have to due with building require knowledge of React Native and re schooler math needs.
